APPRAISAL PERIOD

Q2 2026

FINAL OUTCOME

Performing Well

Employee Self-Review

What went well during this period?

I maintained a positive customer service attitude during busy periods, handled guest seating and service requests more confidently, and improved coordination with the kitchen during peak hours.

What challenges did you face?

Weekend rushes sometimes made order follow-up difficult, especially when several tables arrived at once and support cover was limited.

What support or training would help you perform better?

Refresher coaching on service recovery, upselling, and faster handover between floor and kitchen teams would help me perform even better.

Supervisor Review

AREA	OBSERVATION	SCORE
Punctuality	Reports on time consistently and supports shift readiness well.	4
Teamwork	Works well with service and kitchen teams and communicates clearly during handovers.	4
Service / Quality of Work	Maintains a good guest-facing attitude and follows service standards with care.	4
Discipline / Reliability	Reliable in assigned tasks and responsive when corrected.	4
Role Delivery / Job Knowledge	Understands the service flow well and continues to improve in busy-floor control.	3

Strengths Observed

Calm customer handling, consistency in service, and better coordination with teammates.

Areas to Improve

Faster response during rush periods and stronger confidence in service recovery.

Supervisor Recommendation

Employee is performing well and should continue in role with targeted coaching on handling rush pressure, upselling, and guest issue resolution.

Prepared in the proposed simple Robot Cafe appraisal format.

Solva HR

General Manager Final Review

The employee has shown stable service performance and a positive service attitude. Supervisor feedback is consistent with observed improvement in guest handling and teamwork. The employee should remain on normal performance track with light coaching rather than any formal intervention.

GM Management Remark

Keep building floor confidence and service rhythm. Candidate is dependable and has potential for stronger front-of-house responsibility if improvement continues.
